UK Freelancer AI Invoice & Proposals Pack

Proposal → quote → invoice → chase → scope-creep reply — in UK English, without inventing your rates.

£29 · Instant PDF · One-off

- A How to use — model-agnostic · never invent rates
- B Proposals — discovery → scoped options A/B/C
- C Quotes — one-page email + PDF field outline
- D Invoices — checklist · polite · firm · final
- E Scope creep — out-of-scope reply · change quote
- F Late payers — chase ladder · pause-work (if true)
- G Context block — name · trade · rates · terms

Not legal, tax, or financial advice. PECR and UK GDPR framing is practical hygiene for B2B email — you remain responsible. Not a substitute for an accountant or solicitor. Original prompts · UK English · 2026-09-17

A. How to use

Set up once (about 10 minutes). Then copy-paste forever. Works with ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Copilot, or a local model — reusable UK wording for the freelance money loop, not software.

Three rules

- Fill Section G once (your trade context). Paste it at the top of every new chat.
- Copy one prompt from B–F. Replace every [SQUARE BRACKET] with facts you know. Leave unknowns as UNKNOWN.
- Never invent rates, fees, dates, invoice numbers, client names, VAT figures, or legal claims. If a fact is missing, ask one clarifying question — do not guess.

Before you send

Edit the draft like a human. You are the trader; the model is a clerk. Check names, amounts, bank details, payment terms, and tone.

Tone presets

plain	Default for most B2B / agency clients
firm	Second chase / missed deadline / scope pushback
warm	Existing relationship or referral
short	Busy recipient — cut to the ask

What this pack is not

- Not a CRM, bookkeeping tool, or subscription SaaS
- Not legal, tax, or debt-collection advice
- Not permission to spam consumer inboxes
- Not a price list — your rates stay yours

B. Proposals

Turn messy discovery notes into a scoped proposal with options and clear exclusions. Never invent day rates or timelines the client did not discuss.

Shared discovery facts (paste into B1–B3)

DISCOVERY FACTS (use only these – never invent):
My name / trade: [NAME], [TRADE]
Client: [NAME / COMPANY] Project: []
Problem / goals / must-haves / nice-to-haves: []
Budget band / timeline mentioned (or UNKNOWN): []
Constraints / out of scope already agreed: []
My rate basis: [day rate £X / fixed / package – real only]
Payment terms: [e.g. 50% deposit, balance on delivery]

B1 — Discovery notes → scoped proposal

You are my UK freelance proposals assistant. Use only the facts.
Never invent rates, timelines, deliverables, or guarantees. UK English.
[PASTE DISCOVERY FACTS]
TASK: Draft proposal with headings only:
1) Understanding 2) Scope – Inclusions 3) Exclusions
4) Approach / phases 5) Investment (NEED INPUT if missing)
6) Timeline (NEED INPUT if missing) 7) Payment terms 8) Next step
No hype. No invented case studies. Mark gaps as NEED INPUT.

B2 · B3 · B4

B2 — Options A / B / C

Use only approved option prices – never invent. UK English.
Option A (core): [£] – includes []
Option B (recommended): [£] – adds []
Option C (stretch): [£] – adds []
TASK: Three clear options. For each: name, who it's for, inclusions difference, price, one trade-off sentence.
Recommend B only if I named it recommended. Max 280 words.

B3 — Exclusions & assumptions

Write a tight Exclusions and Assumptions section (bullets).
Never invent legal disclaimers or insurance claims.
Unclear items → "To confirm with client". UK English.
NOTES: [paste] My standard exclusions: [if any]

B4 — Proposal email cover

Short email covering a freelance proposal. Max 110 words.
Tone: [plain/warm/short]. Identify me by name and trade.
One sentence on attachment. One clear next step. No fake scarcity.
Never invent a prior conversation not in the facts.
FACTS: Client · Project · Attachment name · My name/trade · Prior call

C. Quotes

One-page quote when a full proposal is overkill — email body plus field checklist for a PDF or Doc.

UK freelance quoting assistant. Never invent line items or VAT.
FACTS: My name/trade · Client · Quote ref · Valid until Line items I approve: [desc] – [qty] – [£]
Subtotal / VAT / Total / Payment terms / Inclusions / Exclusions
TASK: Email max 140 words. Subject + body. List line items.
State total and terms once. One ask to approve. Sign off.

C2 — Quote PDF / Doc field outline

One-page quote field checklist (labelled fields only).
Header · Client block · Line-items table · Totals · Terms · Acceptance
Leave amounts as [square brackets]. Not tax advice.
Footer note: “Not a VAT invoice unless labelled as such” if relevant.

C3 — Quick revise after feedback

Revise quote from client feedback. Change ONLY what feedback asks.
Never invent new line items or discounts I did not approve.
Show change log (was → now) then revised quote email body.
ORIGINAL · CLIENT FEEDBACK · CHANGES I APPROVE

D. Invoices

Field checklist plus polite → firm → final chase in sole-trader tone. Never invent late fees or “legal action”.

Shared invoice facts (paste into D2–D5)

INVOICE FACTS (use only these – never invent):
My name / trading name: [] UTR optional: [or omit]
Client: [] Invoice number: [INV-XXX]
Net [£] · VAT [£ or n/a] · Gross [£]
Issue date · Due date · Days overdue (or courtesy)
Payment details: [only if real]
What the work was: [one line]
What already happened: [e.g. emailed 1 Sep; chase 15 Sep]

D1 — Invoice field checklist

UK sole-trader invoice field checklist for every job.
Sections: Who I am | Who they are | Invoice meta |
Line items | Totals | Payment | Notes.
Flag required vs optional. Not HMRC/tax advice – checklist only.
My status: [VAT-registered yes/no/UNKNOWN]

D2 · D3 · D4 · D5

D2 — Polite first chase

UK freelance admin assistant. Facts only. Tone: polite, plain.
Sole trader to client – not a debt collector.
[PASTE INVOICE FACTS]
TASK: Email max 120 words. Subject + body. No threats.
One clear ask. One easy reply. Sign off with name + trading name.

D3 — Firm · D4 — Final

D3: Firm, professional. Assume polite chase already sent.
Max 140 words. Overdue gross + due date once. Ask payment date this week or written reason. No ALL CAPS.
D4: Final notice, factual. Never invent fees/court claims.
Escalation ONLY if true. Subject: Final reminder – Invoice [INV-XXX].

D5 — Overdue ladder + tone picker

Table: Invoice | Client | Gross £ | Due | Days overdue |
Next action | Tone (polite/firm/final) | Draft due by.
Do not invent rows. Missing → UNKNOWN.

- 1–7 days overdue, first contact → polite (D2)
- 8–21 days, already chased once → firm (D3)
- 22+ days, two prior chases, real next step → final (D4)

£1,800 · no VAT · due 31 Aug 2026 · 17 days overdue
Sample subject: Invoice INV-218 — friendly payment reminder

E. Scope creep

Protect the agreed scope without burning the relationship. Price the change — don't absorb it silently.

E1 — “Out of scope” reply

UK freelance scope guardian. Never invent original agreement.
Tone: warm but clear. FACTS: name/trade · client · inclusions · what they asked · why outside · offer I can make.
TASK: Email max 130 words. Acknowledge. State outside scope without blame. Offer the path I named. One clear question.

E2 — Change-request quote

Short change-request quote. Never invent hours or rates.
FACTS: project · original ref · extra work · effort · fee · timeline impact · payment for the change.
TASK: description · price/timeline · if decline, original continues · acceptance line (“Agreed”). Max 180 words.

E3 — Mid-project boundary (optional)

Calm mid-project check-in. Restate remaining inclusions.
Invite change requests formally. Max 120 words.
No passive aggression. Never invent remaining hours.

F. Late payers

Chase ladder reminders plus pause-work wording — only when that is truly your next step.

F1 — Chase ladder (sole-trader)

Three-step ladder from invoice facts only.
Each step (polite/firm/final): suggested send day vs due date, subject line, 2-sentence purpose. No invented fees or threats.
[PASTE INVOICE FACTS] + real escalation after final (or none named)

F2 — Pause-work wording (only if true)

Pause further work until invoice is paid — ONLY if you confirm YES.
Never invent contractual rights. Tone: firm, factual, not hostile.
Max 140 words. State what pauses / what does not / resume condition.
If you cannot write YES, use D4 without escalation instead.

F3 — Payment plan · F4 — Thanks

F3: Offer ONLY the plan you approve. Never invent instalments.
Restate total owed. Ask one written confirmation. Max 120 words.
F4: Payment received thank-you. Max 60 words. Warm. No upsell unless you supply one factual next-step line.

G. Fill-in context block

Copy once. Keep in Notes / Notion / a pinned doc. Paste at the top of every new chat before any prompt from B–F.

CONTEXT – FACTS ONLY (do not invent beyond this block):
My name: [ ]   Trading name: [ ]
Trade / services: [e.g. freelance brand designer]
Location: UK   UTR (optional – omit if preferred): [ ]
VAT registered: [yes / no]   Currency: GBP
Day rate (if used): [£] (or n/a)
Typical project rate bands I actually use: [ ]
Default payment terms: [e.g. 50% deposit, balance Net 14]
Deposit policy: [ ]   Payment methods: [bank / Stripe – real]
Usual tone: [plain / firm / warm / short]
Things I never claim: [e.g. guaranteed rankings / legal advice]
Preferred sign-off: [ ]   Website / portfolio (optional): [ ]
Other standing facts: [ ]

Tip: If the model invents a rate or date, reply: “Strike that — not in CONTEXT. Ask me instead.”

PECR / email hygiene (read once)

Prefer people and companies you already work with, or who asked for a quote. Identify yourself clearly. For marketing-style email beyond a live project, include: “If you’d rather not hear from me, reply STOP.” Do not scrape bought consumer lists. Do not use fake personalisation. When unsure, ask a solicitor — practical hygiene, not legal advice.

Subject: Invoice INV-218 — payment reminder

Hi Maple Digital team,
I'm writing about invoice INV-218 for £1,800.00, due 31 August 2026.
Could you confirm when payment will be made, or let me know if anything is outstanding? Bank details are on the invoice.
Kind regards, Jordan Ellis · Freelance UX designer
