How much does a dog groom cost in London and the South East? (2026 prices)

If you have rung round a few groomers, you will know the prices can feel all over the place. One salon says £45, another says £80, and a third says "it depends". This guide shows what full grooms actually cost across London and the South East, using the prices 11 groomers publish on their own websites, checked on 21 October 2026.

The short answer

For a small dog, a full groom in this check started at between £45 and £80. Six of the 11 started at £58 or less. For a large dog, the six groomers who list a separate large-dog price started at between £75 and £112, and three of those six started at exactly £75.

Those are starting prices. The figure on your bill can be higher if your dog has a long or thick coat, or needs more time.

What 11 groomers charge

Groomer	Area	Small dog from	Large dog from	Note
Wash Wag Go	Canterbury, Kent	£45	–	No size split
Furmily	Battersea, London	£50	–	No size split
Verve London	Notting Hill, London	£55	–	Full scissor groom from £110
Bark Lane	Swanley, Kent	£55	£75	Giant £90; includes VAT
Latin Groomer	Bow, London	£55	£75	Five sizes, up to £95
Top Paws	London / SE (mobile)	£58	£75	Medium from £65
Dog Grooming Camden	Holloway, London	£65	£85	Extra large £110
Paw Pairs	Tooting, London	£66	–	No size split
Dirty Dog Washes	Willesden, London	£68	£112	Smooth coat; fluffy from £88 / £122
Barber Dog	Fulham, London	£74	–	Signature groom from £82
Cooper's Gang	Fulham, London	£80	£100	XS £75 to XL £120

Prices are the groomers' own published "from" or starting figures for a full groom. Where a groomer did not split by size, the large-dog column is blank. Always check the groomer's page before you book, as prices change.

Why the price changes with size

A bigger dog takes longer to bath, dry and trim, so most groomers who publish a size chart charge more as the dog gets bigger. Bark Lane in Swanley, for example, lists small £55, medium £60, large £75 and giant £90. Cooper's Gang in Fulham runs from £75 for extra small to £120 for extra large.

Why fluffy dogs often cost more

Coat type matters as much as size. Dirty Dog Washes in Willesden lists smooth-coated dogs from £68 for small and £112 for large, while fluffy coats start at £88 for small and £122 for large. If your dog has a coat that keeps growing, expect to pay towards the top of the ranges above.

Salon or mobile groomer?

A mobile groomer comes to your door, which saves you the drive and can suit nervous or older dogs. Being mobile does not always mean cheaper, though. In this check, Top Paws, a mobile groomer covering London and the South East, started small dogs at £58, a little above the £55 that two salons charged.

Five questions to ask before you book

- Is the price you quote a starting price, and what would make it go up for my dog?
- Does the full groom include a bath, dry, nail trim and ear clean, or are any of those extra?
- Do your prices include VAT? (Bark Lane, for example, says its prices do.)
- How long will my dog be with you?
- What happens if my dog gets stressed part-way through?

How often does a dog need grooming?

That depends on the breed and coat, and your groomer is the best person to advise for your dog. Ask them at the first appointment, and if you want a groom before Christmas, book it early.
